

Athanasios Protopapas

Short Curriculum Vitae

Athanasios Protopapas is Associate Professor of Obstetrics-Gynecology & Endoscopic Surgery. He is responsible of the Endoscopic Surgery Unit of the 1st University Department of Obstetrics & Gynecology of the Medical School, National and Kapodistrian University of Athens, Greece. His unit is a tertiary reference center for advanced gynecological endoscopic surgery in Greece. Since 2009 he also serves as elected General Secretary of the Hellenic Society of Gynecological Endoscopy. He has been trained in gynecological endoscopy in Greece, United Kingdom and France, and has a special interest in advanced pelvic endoscopic surgery. His scientific work includes a large number of scientific publications in peer reviewed medical journals, the majority on endoscopic surgery and endometriosis.